Summary

Our Development Team is guided by our purpose: to reimagine medicine to improve and extend people's lives. To do this, we are optimizing and strengthening our processes and ways of working. We are investing in new technologies and building specific therapeutic area and platform depth and capabilities – all to bring our medicines to patients even faster. We are seeking key talent, like you, to join us and help give people with disease and their families a brighter future to look forward to. Apply today and welcome to where we thrive together! The Role: This role offers hybrid working, requiring 3 days per week in our White City, London office. As Director, Regulatory Policy and Intelligence you will facilitate the application of regional regulatory requirements and intelligence to provide strategic direction and product advocacy in global development. This will ensure Regulatory Affairs enterprise Objectives are met, and enable regulatory compliance.

About the Role

Major accountabilities:

- You will provide regular communications and briefings to Global and Regional Policy Heads on relevant global regulatory policy issues, participating in internal product team meetings to provide regulatory policy context for business decisions.
- Provide strategic regulatory advice to RA colleagues on drug development projects and registration, and marketed products in preparation for HA meetings. This follows analysis of the impact of important emerging regulatory policies and new requirements on Novartis projects and business.
- Prepare and coordinate internal stakeholder feedback on proposed laws, regulations and guidance; represent and ensure Novartis' position is considered by trade associations.
- Serve as representative in external organizations such as trade associations, consortia, and/or Public Private Partnerships.
- Identify and escalate internally key information with stakeholders, collaborating with Corporate Affairs to shape legislative proposals.
- Coordinate and lead internal cross functional implementation of regulatory guidelines in new and emerging areas.

Your experience:

- Bachelor's or Master's Degree, science, health policy or legal based.

- Experience in regulatory affairs, and or Drug/ biologics development.
- Demonstrable success in a regulatory or health policy role, with strong understanding of the regulatory and legislative environment.
- Strong interpersonal, communication and negotiation skills. Ability to enable teams to think strategically.
- Experience of working in a complex, cross functional environment, within either industry or HA setting.
- Fluency in English.
